Call it 'Vanity' or 'Prestige'

ELPs Now Come in 7 Characters

Beginning July 1 auto owners may purchase 7-character "vanity" plates from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

They are sold under its Environment License Plate (ELP) which until now is limited to 6 characters.

So far more than $18 million has been collected on the 6-character "vanity" program.

Applications are being accepted now for 7-character plates.

Now Marquez or Maloney, Itogawa or Iverson, Petrini or Petzold — anyone with a 7-letter name who couldn't buy the plates before because of the previous 6-character maximum — can go to any of 147 DMV offices and apply for one of the "prestige" plates.

Because more than one Mahoney or Petrini might apply for plates, there will be a drawing in late June to resolve the problem of duplicate requests. To be eligible for the drawing, applications must be received at DMV offices by the close of business May 31.

When the ELP program began back in 1970 some 7,000 people participated in such a drawing, with 37 applicants seeking plates with the word "PEACE" on them. The luck of the draw brought the plate to James Barrow of Fullerton. He still has the plate.

The applicant may make up to three choices for his or her 7-character plate, but should indicate only choice that the applicant would accept if DMV is unable to grant the first choice. If the first choice is unacceptable to DMV (the combination may not be considered in good taste, or may have been previously selected by someone else), the second choice then becomes the first choice, and the third choice becomes the second. Winners and losers will be notified of the results of the drawing.

While applications are being accepted now at all DMV offices, the 7-character ELPs will not be issued or assigned to a vehicle until the first week of July. Meanwhile, applications for two- to six-character plates are also being taken and processed on an ongoing basis. But only the seven-character plate applications will be eligible for the drawing.

The personalized plates cost $25 for the original application and $10 for each annual renewal, in addition to the regular registration fee.

Since the birth of the ELP program in 1970 more than 400,000 environmental plates have been purchased by California drivers, with 250,000 currently on the road. DMV estimates that 25,000 Californians annually will apply for the new seven-character plates.

ELP funds are used to purchase ecological reserves, protection of rare and endangered animal species, bird sanctuaries, conservation education, construction of roadside ecological viewing areas, and for abatement of air pollution caused by motor vehicles.

$35,500 Is Grove's Sales Tax Share

Lemon Grove received $35,500 this week of the more than $66.5 million that was release to California cities and counties in the April distribution of local sales and use tax funds.

Iris Sankey, Member, State Board of Equalization, announced that these funds represent the second advance payment for the first quarter of 1978.

The bulk of these funds comes from the Bradley-Burns one percent sales and use tax to cities and counties, with $43.6 million going to cities and $7.1 million to counties for a combined total exceeding $50 million.

Almost $12.7 million from the ¼ percent local sales and use tax will be paid to the counties for the local transportation fund.

IT'S ARTISTRY — Giant cartoon murals grace the three walls of Pal's Cafe, Imperial and Lester avenues, Lemon Grove. Since the cafe is next door to the publishing shop of this newspaper, it is only natural that one of the characters should be reading the weekly necessity — THE LEMON GROVE REVIEW.

The character, representing the editor of the newspaper is not as handsome as the true life newsman, so a couple of charming ladies, employed by the newspaper loaned beauty to the scene. They are Linda Smith, receptionist-bookkeeper and Ardis McCullough, advertising manager.

The mural is the brainchild and artistry of Laverne Whitcomb.

A small traffic problem is being created by drivers stopping to look at the huge mural which is done in "Early Western."

City Faces 2 Suits

Lemon Grove City faces a couple of court battles, city council learned Tuesday night.

The first suit is tentatively set for May 5 in San Diego Superior Court. It was filed by EDCO Corp., local refuse disposal firm which followed a City charge that its Manufacturing (M-1) zoning was being violated by present use and that noise of its operation was disturbing nearby neighbors. EDCO is at 6670 Federal blvd.

Another suit, this one by the L.G. Fire Fighters Assn. is scheduled for Superior Court May 16. It asks for reinstatement of a sick-leave policy that was in effect until shortly before the city took the department under its wing when incorporation was approved last year.

At that time, firemen could accumulate more than 2,000 hours of which half was to be paid upon termination or retirement.

Because it required a fund of $50,000 to be set aside—and was growing, the board of directors of the Fire District decided to limit it to the hour then accumulated not to exceed 2,000 and not to exceed the rate of pay when it was earned.

The suit also asks the City to pay the Fire Assn's. legal fee for the suit.

Mayor Jim Dorman, who with City Manager Jack Shelver, returned from Sacramento to just as the meeting began, reported that the City would benefit $10,000-$12,000 year as a result of their travel.

The pair made the trip to encourage Assemblyman Peter Chacon to introduce a bill by which Lemon Grove would pay the County of San Diego only 8% of fines collected instead of 25% of the total called for under current state law. for under current state law.

Chacon introduced the bill as the plane departure deadline neared and Senator Jim Mills agreed to carry it through the Senate. The pair made the plane only because it was late in departing. Chacon also served as chauffeur to the airport.

In other council action Tuesday, Mayor Dorman listed 5 nominees for the first City planning commission. There were 21 candidates for the non-paid post, he said. His nominees, all of whom successfully passed through the screening committee, are Warren Buckner, Ben Ela, Lois Heiserman, Joseph Hobbs and John Stenbeck.

The schedule is: Confirmation request, May 1; appointment, May 15. Choices are predicated on the 5 winning confirmation and observing financial disclosure requirements.

Council also authorized the mayor to sign a joint powers agreement by which $25,000 of Parkland Dedication Funds would go to the Aquatic Center at Mt. Miguel High school.

Also, $1,000 was earmarked for constructing a Welcome sign at the Imperial ave end of the Lemon Grove Ave-94 off ramp. The fund was initiated several years ago by the L.G. Rotary club with several other groups making contributions. The total cost is yet to be ascertained but should not exceed $3,000, it was indicated. The fund is near that amount now.

Two Suspects To Face Charge Of Youth Beating

A complaint has been made on two suspects accused of beating an 18-year old youth in the Lemon Grove Jack-in-the-Box so severely that he will require months of plastic surgery.

Detective Sgt. Roger Jacobs of Lemon Grove said that the charge was given to the district attorney's office on Tuesday after two suspects were identified.

The men are being charged with attacking Richard G. Olson, 18 and Robert T. Taylor, 21, who were seated with 5 friends in the restaurant when the attack occurred.

It was reported that words between the two groups were exchanged outside about 12:30 a.m. April 1 while the suspects were in their auto.

The suspects are said to have returned to the restaurant where one used a metal bar to beat Olson. His friend took Olson to the hospital

Sgt. Jacobs said the alleged attackers were adults. A third suspect cannot be located. He is said to be an illegal alien.

Olson is recuperating, it was reported. The suspects names are being withheld pending filing of charges by the District Attorney's office.

The total rainfall for the season is now 26.25 inches. Last year, same period, it was 9.09. The season ends June 30.

Doherty Appears for Licensee

Sups Give S.V. Swap Meet 6-Month Conditional License

The Spring Valley Swap Meet at 6377 Quarry rd. was granted a 6-month temporary operating license during a hearing before the S.D. County Board of Supervisors last week.

The action came after Sheriff John Duffy rejected the swap meet's request for renewal of its license.

The Board of Supervisors imposed certain conditions on the temporary issuance. These including restricting the number of sellers to 800; prohibiting the sale of animals; limiting sales to weekends only; closing the Akard st. gate with posted signs and requiring a better arrangement for trash pickup.

County staff will work with property owners on Quarry road and the swap meet about possibilities of widening this access road to the swap meet. Agricultural, animal control and fish and game departments will be consulted about diseased birds and plants being sold at the swap meet and types of permits sellers must obtain to sell birds and plants. If swap meet grounds are not cleaned up. the swap meet owner may have to post bond.

L.G. Councilman Jack Doherty appeared at the hearing and according to his own report, this is what he said:

"My concern in this matter is the manner in which county staff has handled the license denial of the Spring Valley swap meet. In the weeks immediately prior to the action by county staff, no one from staff had contacted the operators of the swap meet to attempt to work out the problems.

"The operators were not contacted by land Use and Environmental Regulation. They were not contacted by the Department of Transportation. They were not contacted by the sheriff.

"The first time the operators heard about the license denial was when they read about it in a local newspaper.

"The revocation or denial of a license by a governmental body is a drastic action. It is an action which should be taken as a last resort when all attempts to solve underlying problems have failed.

"Actions against a license should not be taken as a means to begin a discussion about problems of the business.

"I am particularly upset about this treatment because the license involved here is not the license of a large multi-national company. You are not dealing with a corporate giant such as General Motors or Standard Oil.

"What you are dealing with is the ability of 800 to 1,000 ordinary people to sell items which other ordinary people want to buy.

"I support the Spring Valley swap meet because the buyers and sellers who assembly each weekend on that large asphalt parking lot embody the American free enterprise system in its purest form.

"I urge you to support that system.

"I urge you to keep the Spring Valley swap meet open."

Doherty is a candidate for the office of County Sheriff.

Boat Owners Get Assessor's 'Tax Bite' Estimates

County Assessor E. C. Williams announced the annual mailing of assessed valuation notices to California state registered boat owners in San Diego County. "The notices will indicate the Assessor's opinion of the 1978 valuation of each boat or vessel that has been appraised as of March 1, 1978," Williams said, "and will be mailed by April 18." Boat owners are requested to notify the Assessor as soon as possible of any corrections or changes they feel appropriate.

If there is any change in the status of the boat, such as location, or the owner's difference of opinion regarding the assessed value, etc., the notification should be returned with remarks to the Assessor's Marine and Aircraft Section, Room 103, County Administration Center.

"Changes received (in time to be processed) prior to June 30 can be corrected in a simplified manner," according to Williams," "however, after July 1 when the assessment roll has been prepared and made an official record, corrections or changes in value require actions by an Assessment Appeals Board."

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Need Hope

Q. Please send me your booklet, "Hope-Filled Promise for the Divorced." I need all the hope I can get to help restore my faith in God.

Seven years ago my husband deserted me, leaving me with three small children.

I have had to struggle to make ends meet.

I either have to work at two or three jobs or depend on welfare, which I hate to do because the American public is always downgrading or condemning every mother who raises her children on ADC (Aid to Dependent Children).

That's because there are a few who run around and don't take care of their children.

Even if you are a good person, take good care of your children and work like a dog and never do anything for enjoyment, there are still those few people who make insulting remarks.

I am working three jobs, and I cannot continue this pace. I am 37 and feel about 60.

I want to know how to get some enjoyment out of life. I hate to face each new day. Nothing I do seems worth doing. Please help.

A. Your question seems to indicate you think God is responsible for all your troubles. It isn't God who started your troubles, but your husband who deserted you. So God can hardly be blamed for this situation.

Your fatigue is certainly understandable. But it can be overcome to a degree, at least, by changing your mental attitudes. Do not let yourself be concerned about what people say.

Take care of your children without bitterness.

Instead of constantly dwelling on the tough problems you've got, try thanking God that you have children, that you are young and have good health. In other words, add up the positives. Visualize a happy future and mastery of your problems. Then your life situation will start improving.

A copy of our booklet, "Hope-Filled Promise for the Divorced," is on its way to you. Anyone else wishing a free copy may write to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Wants a friend, not a lover

Q. I hitch-hike to the prison 50 miles away to see my husband. One day a guy picked me up and took me home. For the first two weeks I invited him to my house.

He was really nice. He helped me with the storm windows, gave me dog food, things like that. No mention about sex.

Now he wants to have sex. I don't want to hurt his feelings, because I want friends. He claims he loves me, but I don't love him. What should I do?

A. You should have known better than to invite to your house a man who picked you up on the road. Looks as though by being nice he was softening you up for the sex pitch.

There is no reason why you should be concerned about hurting his feelings. If telling him to leave hurts him, so what? He couldn't care less about hurting you.

To find some real friends, go where many good people go—to church. You might, of course, find a bad one there, but the chances favor good ones.

Doesn't keep his word

Q. We have a 17-year-old son who has run away from home several times. We have tried a lot of different things. Right now he is in a military academy, but his attitude toward us has not changed.

His morals seem to be exactly the opposite of anything we believe in and have taught by example.

He doesn't keep his word, so we can't believe anything he says.

Isn't this a spiritual problem? We need help so we can concentrate on our teaching profession and on the rest of our family.

A. You must not allow this one child to destroy the order and peace of your home. Nor must he be permitted to take your attention away from your teaching profession and from concern with the other children.

Do not argue with him or condemn him. Keep on loving him, praying for him. Surround him with faith and then let him work out his own salvation.

This strong yet loving tactic can be best for him and will preserve the remainder of the family intact.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Farina performs four months of the year, devoting the rest of her time to a unique project, "Bread & Roses," based in Mill Valley. She founded the group in 1972 to bring music to prisons, juvenile halls, hospitals and convalescent centers in the San Francisco area.

Ronnie Wilson Beats Gene Meira in Ten

San Diego light-heavyweight Ronnie Wilson, 172, took a 10-round, main event decision over Gene Meira Friday night at the S.D. Coliseum. Meira, 176, of Hawthorne was better then the decision indicated.

This writer saw it 4-4 with 2 even with Meira taking the first 4. The 5th and 7th were even. It was probably Wilson's strong finish that caused the judging to be in his favor.

Wilson lost a split decision last month to Mike Quarry in a bout that should have been ruled a draw. The decision caused dissatisfaction among the fans at the Coliseum. Wilson was anxious for Friday's win and demanded a rematch with Quarry. Promoter Danny Millsap said the match was in the making.

It should be noted that Wilson has been on the losing end of several split decisions. Each could have been a victory by just shifting a point somewhere along the line. But luck, as much as skill, has been on the side of his opponents. Wilson's record now stands at 86-23-4.

In the opening bout Friday amateur Silvano Sevala of Logan Heights got the nod over Mike McDougal of Hawthorne on a 3-rounder.

Marine Sgt. Len Provo won his 6th straight light heavy pro fight when he KO"d Samoa's Fona Leota. It was also Provo's 6th pro fight. The Marine is immensely popular at the Coliseum. He is managed by Lou Lake, a former fight promoter.

Provo decked Leota at 2:35 of the 2nd round of a bout scheduled for 6.

In another light-heavy scrap, Jim Ingram took a decision from Junior Albers in 6 rounds while Heavyweight Rick Mills won a 5-round decision from Rocky Jones.

Coliseum matchmaker is Ernie Fuentes.

Spring Valley Girl Golfer Wins Hall of Champs Award

Three area athletes, one from Spring Valley, competing in as many different sports, have been awarded Certificates of Achievement by the San Diego Hall of Champions Breitbard Athletic Committee for outstanding performances during the month of March.

In the trio are Sharon Barrett of Spring Valley, perhaps the county's finest young girl golfer; Mission Bay Yacht Club's Jeff Lenhart and Jerry Nikodym, amateur lightweight wrestler from the Marine Recruit Depot.

The 16-year-old Barrett, a junior at Monte Vista High who won the California CIF crown in 1977, added to her collection of honors when she captured four titles during the Easter vacation period. She took San Diego City honors, then won a delayed playoff in the Tournament of champions sponsored by the San Diego Junior Golf Assn. To those championships she added the La Jolla Invitational and the annual Golfcraft event at Escondido.

Lenhart, named a Star of the Month last October after he took the North American centerboard sloop class sailing classic, outmaneuvered a large fleet to account for his third straight Southern Circuit Snipe regatta off the Bahamas.

Regarded a potential Olympic prospect, Nikodym, competing at 136½ pounds, won his division title in the annual All-Service freestyle grappling match at Quantico, Virginia.

The Inglewood, a turf contest at a mile and one sixteenth, is slated for Sunday and 32 grass specialists are candidates.

Deer Management Meet is Tonight

The controversial new deer management plan for the state of California will be the subject at a special meeting for outdoorsmen, co-hosted by the San Diego County Fish and Game Assn. and Wildlife Federation. It is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 in the War Memorial bldg., Balboa Park.

Brian Hunter of the California Department of Fish and Game will describe in detail the new program and its impact on San Diego County, and he will answer questions regarding the plan.

The deer management plan has come under fire from hunters and other interested persons mainly because of confusion over deer quotas, special hunter permits, season dates and hunt locations.

One week following tonight's meeting, the California Fish and Game Commission will meet in San Diego to hold hearings on the new plan.

S.D. Fair Entry Deadline Nears

Competitive exhibitors at the Southern California Exposition at Del Mar should be mindful of the May 15 entry deadline, Lolly Stuckenscheider, Exhibits Supervisor, noted this week.

The "deadline means forms must be on file with the entry department not later than May 15," she pointed uot. In previous years, a postmark was sufficient to qualify entries.

There are numerous categories open to competition including livestock, national horse show, floriculture, home arts, rabbits, poltry, pigeons. feature exhibits, agriculture, and horticulture.

Premiums offerings total $185,483.25.

In 1977, there were 10,428 exhibitors with 39,836 entries.

Hiccupping Fish

The Brazilian hiccup fish is so named because it produces loud hiccups by gulping lungfuls of air and then expelling them.

Padres to Wrap-Up Homestand Sunday Against Atlanta Braves

Four games with National League Western Division rival Atlanta Braves will round out the San Diego Padres initial homestand of the season as the Pads prepare for their longest road swing of the campaign.

The Padres and Braves will clash in four single affairs beginning with the club's first Business Special of the year this afternoon. Game time is 1 p.m. as opposed to the normal weekday starting time of 7 p.m. Following that, the two clubs will go through 7 p.m. encounters on Friday and Saturday before closing things out on Sunday afternoon with a 1 p.m. finale.

Some of the biggest crowds of the season should be on tap for the Friday and Saturday outings as two of the Padres top promotional events are scheduled for those two days. The Friday night event will be the KGB Sky Show with a spectacular fireworks and light show co-ordinated with KGB radio set for immediately following the game. Then. on Saturday night, it will be Coca-Cola All-Star CCap Night with fans receiving free baseball caps featuring the Padres special All-Star logo.

Following the Sunday meeting with Atlanta, the Padres will take off for a 12-game road swing, the longest single jaunt of the year for the club.

The Padres will pay a return visit to Houston April 24-26 for three outings against the Houston Astros and then head into the beginning of an 18-game run versus clubs from the National League's Eastern Division.

Kicking off the series against the East will be April 28-30 games with the Philadelphia Phillies followed by stops in Pittsburgh (May 1-3) and St. Louis (May 5-7).

San Diego has another 12-game journey later in the year to tie for the top spot as far as the longest road trip goes, but the Padres do have one long dry spell in late June and a good portion of July where the club does not play a home game in 20 straight outings.

"We need to turn in a sound performance in the four games with Atlanta," said manager Roger Craig. "It's always best to go into a road trip, especially a lengthy one, on a high note. It might even be more important to us in this case since we will be meeting what most people feel will be the top three clubs in the Eastern Division this season—Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and St. Louis."

Cajon Speedway Supers In Third Try on Saturday

Super stocks of the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. were to have opened their 1978 season at Cajon Speedway two weeks ago, but back-to-back cancellations due to the weather have left the local group praying for sunshine.

Hopefully, the 1978 campaign can get underway Saturday night. The action will start at 6:30 with qualifying with the first of two trophy dashes following at 8. Other events include four 8-lap heat races, a 15-lap consolation race, the 20-lap B-main. the 40-lap A-Main, and the first of six monthly powder puff races.

And in these days of equal rights, the powder puff race may take on a different look in 1978. ECSCRA has opened the way for men to race with the women. All women are guaranteed starting positions in the race with any male entrants starting in the back of the pack.

However, there is a limit of 20 cars for the event. It is not known if any male will accept the challenge of the women.

The main focus of the evening will be on the 40-lap main event, which will find 22 cars going postward. The fastest 20 qualifiers of the evening are guaranteed starting positions in the finale with the top two finishers in the B-Main earning transfer spots.

The race should be a wide open affair since the locals have not had much opportunity to test their machines this year. The practice and inspection session three weeks ago drew about 40 cars, but several of the top drivers were missing. Among those not showing for practice, but expected opening night, are 5-time champion Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley, perennial top runner Gary Crossland of Lakeside, and popular Ed Hale of Lakeside.

In all at least 50 cars are expected to be in the pits and battling for shares of the traditionally big opening night purse.

Togetherness vs Turnover Is WTT Opener Test Friday

Question: Can the team that stays together and sticks together overcome an opposition's revolving-door roster that is designed only for instant success?

Answer: Take the San Diego Friars vs. Los Angeles Strings World Team Tennis opener at the Sports Arena Friday night and decide for yourself.

Los Angeles returns only Ilie Nastase to its lineup and has landed Chris Evert to anchor a roster that rates as the strongest in the entire league.

The Friars on the other hand, try looking for the same strong performances from Kerry Reid, Rod Laver and Mona Guerrant that carried the club to the western division championship playoff last year. Ross Case, two years ago a Friar, returns from a successful year as player-coach of the division title winner Phoenix Racquets.

But there is a difference on this year's San Diego team. Laver is more than the top player. He also is the club's coach. The significance starts Friday and against hardly a comfortable opponent.

Evert didn't dominate WTT last season, even falling to second ranking in singles behind Martina Navratilova. But she is a terrific improvement over what Los Angeles had to offer last year and with Ann Kiyomura (another significant Strings addition) presents a formidable doubles combination. Nastase has Vijay Amritrap, not exactly a pushover himself, as a doubles partner.

The matchups for the 7:30 opener, for which excellent seats in all price categories still remain, probably will be Reid vs. Evert, Laver vs. Nastase, Reid-Guerrant vs. Evert-Kiyomura, Laver-Case vs. Nastase-Amritraj and Case-Guerrant vs. Amritraj-Kiyomura.

Laver was fourth and Nastase ninth in WTT singles in 1977.

The Friars, who finished third last season ahead of both Los Angeles (last) and Seattle, were involved in 11 super-tiebreakers and lost 8 of them.

"I know we're at least one game better than last year. The question is, how much better than our opponents?" Laver said.

The San Diego 21-23 record last year was 7 matches ahead of the Strings. With Evert and Nastase, it figures Los Angeles will be a strong contender for the division championship. And if Laver is correct in his deduction, so will the Friars.

Tickets at $5-$15 are now on sale at the Sports Arena and at outlets.

Allan Kingston, Friars general manager, said that two of the six scheduled matches. both away, would be televised live.

Sunday's match will be the Friars' opener, played Friday in the Sports Arena, against the Los Angeles Strings with Chris Evert and Ilie Nastase.

Kingston also announced that Jerry Lee, veteran sports broadcaster, has been named the club's manager of communications and will handle all play by play on television and radio. A subsequent announcement will be made concerning the radio schedule.

Lee, 32, for several years was the voice of the Golden Gators and this year he broadcast major tennis events in Dallas, Seattle and Ft. Lauderdale. He also worked Oakland baseball games last season.

The Friars 1978 television schedule on XETV: April 23, 9-11 p.m. (vs. Los Angeles played April 21); April 30, 8-10 p.m. (at Anaheim); May 14, 9-11 (vs. Los Angeles played May 11); June 11, 9-11 p.m. (vs. Golden Gate played June 10); June 19, 9-11 p.m. (vs. New Orleans played June 14); July 16, 8-10 p.m. (at Los Angeles).

Soccers Seek 5th in a Row

The San Diego Sockers is looking for its 5th consecutive North American Soccer League victory Sunday when the expansion Detroit Express hosts the team at the Silverdome in Pontiac.

The game will be telecast live on XETV 6 to 3 p.m. and aired at 5 p.m. on KOGO radio (600 AM). Joe Starkey and George Logar will be calling the action.

A San Diego victory against Detroit would tie a club record for consecutive wins which dates back to 1974, the last year in which the franchise qualified for the NASL playoffs.

With their come-from-behind win over Portland (3-2) San Diego has built an 18 point lead over second place Oakland and California, and has played one more game thus far.

The Sockers have amassed 33 of a possible 36 points in their first four games, and are currently leading all NASL teams in Goals Scored, Bonus Points, and Total Points. Only five teams of the league's 24 still have undefeated records.

The Detroit Express are one of the NASL's 6 expansion franchises of 1978, and are in second place of the American Conference-Central Division. The Express now have a 2-1 mark, good for 17 points and one point down from the Houston Hurricanes.

Five of the American Conference's leading scorers will be looking to add more points to their lists, and both teams' goalkeepers are near the top of the NASL's rankings.

USD Netters in L.B. Match Fri.

Both the USD men's and women's tennis teams return to S. Cal. after performing in the Bay Area last week.

The men travel to Long Beach State for a 2:30 match Friday. The Toreros return home on Saturday to host Division II upstart CS Bakersfield at 10 a.m.

The girls play a tough match today when USD travels to USCC for a 1:30 p.m. match.

The women, too, are home Saturday when the Toreros host Brigham Young U. at 1:30.

The next action for both teams will be the Ojai Tournament April 27-29.

Aztecs Close Scrimmage Fri.

The final scrimmage of the spring is set for Friday at 7 p.m. in Aztec Bowl as San Diego State enters the last two weeks of spring football.

The Aztecs will scrimmage at night this week and then practice Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in preparation for the April 29 Red-Black, Varsity vs. Alumni game.

Last week the Aztec defense dominated the third scrimmage of the spring. The Aztec quarterbacks completed just 14 or 42 passes with none of the completions going to a wide receiver.

"The defense was just awesome last week," said Coach Claude Gilbert. "We ran the ball fairly well on offense, but couldn't throw the ball against our defense at all. I like to see the defense flying around, but as the head coach you always like to see a real balanced scrimmage."

Quarterback Mark Halda was 10 for 22 for 110 yards last week with Chris Schaefer four of 12 for 58 yards and Greg Roeszler going nothing for six. For the spring, Halda is 41 for 470 yards, Schaefer 18 of 34 for 299 yards and Roeszler five of 21 for 58 yards.

Cal Ray continued to run well last week, rushing for 70 yards on 14 carries. He now has 42 carries for 198 yards in the spring. Mike Hill has 26 carries for 97 and Farrell Mack has 20 for 77.

Holiday Bowl Decision Due

The final word on confirmation of the 1978 Holiday Bowl will be either Tuesday or Wednesday. Those are the days that the National Collegiate Athletic Association Council (NCAA) will be meeting in Kansas City.

The Holiday Bowl, if approved, will annually feature the champions of the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) against a major nationally ranked college football team.

The Holiday Bowl Committee has accomplished all that has been required by the NCAA in their quest for a bowl game for San Diego. Through private funding and backing from both the City and County of San Diego, the $600,000 needed to stage the event was put together. This confirmation of funds was presented to the NCAA in their meetings in Atlanta January 10.

The next step was to name the Bowl and select charities for the event. On March 7, the name "Holiday Bowl" was made public. It was also announced that the Institute for Burn Medicine, located at 3737 5th ave., San Diego, and the S.D. Children's Hospital and Health Center at 8001 Frost st. would be the charities involved.

Early in April, the Holiday Bowl Committee was represented in the NCAA meetings in Tucson, to give the Extra Events Committee of the NCAA a progress report. A favorable reaction greeted the Bowl Committee but the final word will not come until next week.

The last step will be for the Extra Events Committee to make a formal presentation to the NCAA Council and a final decision will be made at that time.

If the Holiday Bowl is confirmed, the game will be played in San Diego Stadium in December, 1978.

Toreros Set Coaches' Clinic

In a continuing effort to aid the San Diego community, the U.S.D. football coaching staff will conduct its "Fifth Annual Coaches Clinic" on Sunday 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Torero head coach Bill Williams again will serve as host for the visiting coaches and guests.

Football coaches from all levels of competition are welcome to attend the on-the-field clinic, in which demonstrations of technique will be executed by current USD football players.

All phases of offense and defense will be illustrated throughout the day-long clinic. Last year's clinic drew over 200 coaches from not only San Diego, but Los Angeles and Central California.

Bill Williams can be contacted at USD.

SDSU Harriers In L.A. Meet

The S.D. State U. track team will head to Los Angeles Saturday for the UCLA Spring All-Comers Meet at 12:30 p.m. in Drake Stadium.

The Aztecs were originally scheduled to compete in the Mt. SAC Relays, but the Mt. SAC event was cancelled because the new track was not completed.

Aztec coach Dick Hill will enter close to a full team. Some of the top Aztec entries are sprinter Marty Krulee (10.4/21.0) and James Perry (10.6/21.3), Brian Donohue (1:47.5 lifetime) in the 800-meters, Brian Hunsaker (3:-49.6 in the 1500 meters) and Bill St. John (8:52.9 lifetime) in the steeplechase.

Hurler Tony Hicks (14.1/52.4) is expected to compete along with several field event people. Hammer thrower Joe Briski (186-3) will head the field event crew along with long jumper Ned Armour (25-9 3/4 lifetime), discus thrower Gary Costello (163-0) and javelin thrower John Barr (209-1).

Next week the Aztecs will be in competition at the Invitational at Long Beach State on Sunday.

'Dry' Contestants In Olympic Test

Recovering alcoholics and their families and friends will participate in San Diego's First Annual Alcoholics Olympics 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m. Sunday in Balboa Stadium.

Events in the Olympics, which is cosponsored by the County's Department of Substance Abuse (DSA) and the City's Park and Recreation Department, include track and field, table tennis, jump rope, bridge and other card games, weight-lifting, three-person basketball and chess.

"The Alcoholic Olympics is both a celebration of sobriety and a recreational event," said DSA Director Richard Jacobsen. "Our main goals are to provide recovering alcoholics, their family and friends and alcoholism services staff an opportunity to enjoy a day of recreation and exercise, and to emphasize the importance of recreation to recovery and living."

Jacobsen said the Olympics will also help project a more positive image of the alcoholic than the public usually sees.

"Alcoholism is one of our most serious social problems," Jacobsen said. "There are more than 100,000 alcohol abusers in San Diego County. Through the Alcoholic Olympics we hope to encourage discussion of the problem in the community leading to earlier recognition and treatment."

Medals and ribbons will be awarded to winners in each event by local elected officials.

About 75 persons, ranging in age from 7 to 68 years, are expected to participate. They will each receive colorful T-shirts imprinted with the Alcoholic Olympics logo as a remembrance of their participation.

Title, Grudge Fights on Card At Coliseum

The American Professional Wrestling Title held by Moondog Mayne will be challanged Tuesday night at the San Diego Coliseum by Hector Guarerro — one of the two famed wrestling brothers. Moondog is not a popular champ so the Tuesday crowd will be partisan.

Hector's brother, Chavo, will go against Outlaw Ron Bass in a grudge fight. Bad blood has been brewing for weeks between the two and whatever disagreement exists will probably be resolved that night.

Roddy Piper, returned to San Diego after taking a foreign wrestling tour, greets Terry Sawyer.

Goliath meets Dr. Hiro Ota before he serves as manager of Little David who will be meeting Black Gordman. Gordman has been attempting to get matched with Goliath but promoter Danny Millsap agrees that he will have to beat Little David before the match is inked.

Tuesday's card starts at 7:30 p.m. The Coliseum is at 15th and E in downtown S.D.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

It looks like it's going to be a long, dry, hot, never ending baseball season. Not just because the Padres are off and bungling to their poorest start in years, or because the Reds and Dodgers have already decided the National League West is going to be a two-horse race. No Sir, there's more.

My non-athletic daughter Susie and her family have entered the sweepstakes. Susie's skipper on the sea of life is a gentle, kind, hardworking, steady sort named Dave. And the pride of their life is six-year old Tim.

It just so happens Susie is working the early evening shift for "Ma Bell" and Dave is pursuing his college degree two night a week. Tuesdays and Mondays. Monday night baseball Mondays.

We, of course, "Timmy sit," along with our 12 year old trouble-maker Tommy. Grandma sometimes falls asleep, or goes shopping, or visits her sister or like that.

But not grampa. Hell no. He'd just as soon sit there watching Monday night baseball as he would drink cold beer and watch girls.

And watching a couple of kids, aged six and 12, why that's a snap. What could go wrong?

You'd better believe just about everything. Take last Monday night, for instance. The Cincinnati's were visiting the Dodgers and even Howard Cosell couldn't dampen the interest in the night's clash with his seeming endless verbage.

Timmy, who eats pretty good and had just cleaned plate, wiped out the last of the cottage chese and downed two glasses of milk with a piece of cake, settled down next to me on the couch.

Tom, who had eaten everything on his plate except the peas, which he had successfully scattered around his plate so they looked as if they were gone, too, sat on the floor in front of the TV.

I took out the big "Churchill" cigar I'd been saving for just such an occasion, said, "Move Tom, you're blocking the picture," lit the cigar and sat back to fondle the glass of low cost FedMart brandy I intended to enjoy with the smoke and the game.

My ever lovin' was reading herself to sleep on the couch that formed the other wing of our corner set. Tom disappeared into his bedroom as my wife nodded off and Hooton toed the rubber.

"Grampa," said the little boy who had just eaten the kitchen clean less than a half hour ago, "I'm hungry."

"You can't be, Timmy. You just finished eating a few minutes ago. You cleaned up your plate and even had a piece of cake."

"Yeah, but I didn't have any cookies. Can I have some cookies Grandpa?"

Tommy came back into the living room while I was foraging through the cupboards for cookies. "Tommy where's the cookies and what is that terrible smell," I yelled almost shattering the glass and nearly waking up my wife.

"I ate 'em after school," he said. "And I'm burning incense to kill the smell of your cigar."

"You what?" I roared charging back into the living room.

"Mom said," explained Tom, as he pulled the incense holder back knocking my glass of FedMart brandy into the ashtray sending my beautiful "Churchill" cigar swimming to its ruin.

I berated Tommy for his carelessness as I cleaned up the mess, that by now had somehow overflowed onto the rug, got rid of the incense and tried to settle with a cheaper cigar and another glass of FM brandy.

"You ruined by Churchill," I told Tommy. "I was hungry after school," he said in explanation of the missing full box of cookies. "Have you got any ice cream," asked Timmy. "That makes it 7-nothing Reds, said Howard Cosell.

Yes sir, it's gonna be a long hot baseball season.

Petty Comeback Goal At NAPA 400 in June

RIVERSIDE — NASCAR's most unpredictable series of Winston Cup stock car racing in 30 years will return for its $130,000 NAPA 400 stop at Riverside International Raceway on June 11 with one question demanding more attention than all the others:

Can Richard Petty start winning again?

The folk hero from Level Cross, North Carolina, is currently suffering through his worst losing streak since the early days of his career in 1959, while other drivers in the super speedway circuit are carrying on the fiercest of battles for the Winston Cup championship.

Petty won his last race on July 4, 1977, the Firecracker 400 at Daytona. Ironically, he is the defending champion of the 400-kilometer race on Riverside's 2.62-mile, eight-turn road course in his STP Dodge.

If Petty can win anywhere, it is at Riverside, where he has scored two victories in the Winston Western 500 (1969 and 1972) and three in the NAPA 400 (1970-1975-1977).

Petty's misfortune is only one indication of how tough the competition has been this season. In 7 races there have been 5 different winners — Cale Yarborough, Bobby Allison (twice), Benny Parsons (twice), David Pearson and Darrell Waltrip. They'll all be at Riverside.

So will be Dave Marcis, Neil Bonnett, road racing champion Al Holbert and West Coast stars Ray Elder, Jimmy Insolo and Bill Schmitt.

A companion race to the NAPA 400 will be the $18,000 Warner W. Hodgson 200 for NASCAR's newest division, Grand American compact stock cars.

The Hodgdon 200 will be held on the same day as the NAPA 400 and will replace the Black Gold 200 for modified stock cars, inaugurated last year, and the California 150 for sportsman stock cars.

This new class of racing stock cars is an outgrowth of rules development suggested a year ago by Raceway president Les Richter and implemented by NASCAR's two top West Coast officials, Ken Piper and Jim Blomgren, so that many different types of stock cars could become eligible to race in the Black Gold 200.

Now there is a nationally recognized class of racing stocks cars. Grand Americans are highly modified 1960-78 model year American-made stock cars, both intermediates and compacts. They range from Chevelle through Cougar, Dart, Ventura, Concord, Mustang, Aspen and Monza. Engine limit is 433 cubic inches and minimum wheelbase 108 inches.

S.D. Breakers to Sponsor Amateur Volleyball Leagues

The S.D. Breakers announced today that they are going to organize and sponsor a variety of amateur volleyball leagues for S.D. residents. To kick off that program, Robert Gerrity, president and general manager of the Breakers has created a new position on the staff. Dan Brady has been chosen to head up the leagues and to act as the Breakers' Community Volleyball Coordinator.

A graduate of S.D.S.U., Brady is coaching San Diego's girls' Jr. Olympic Volleyball team. An avid beach volleyball player, he is excited about his new post.

"There's not a day that goes by without someone asking me about playing recreational volleyball in an organized league. Up until now, there have been few places for people to play. We want to promote volleyball from the power level to the strictly recreational, novice level. These leagues will give everyone an opportunity to participate on the level that they feel comfortable," said Brady.

The leagues begin on June 5, and the first session will include women's, men's, co-ed, and an International Volleyball Assn. format power league. Each team will consist of 6-10 members and the registration fee will include: uniforms, trophies, referees, a gymnasium, and ten weeks of league play. (714) 298-0774.

In addition to heading up the Breakers' community volleyball program, Brady will start training camp with the team. He will be trying to earn a position on the starting roster. Player-coach Miles Pabst: "I've never seen Dan play, he's got a good chance to make the team. I know he's a real competitor and that's real important to me."

Racquetball Tourney Draws Game's 'Great'

By Irv Grossman

Marty Hogan, at only 20, is generally considered to be the top racquetball player in the world.

He thinks so. And there aren't many players in the sport who don't agree. Now he'll have an opportunity to face the world's top racquet champions in the Vitalis sponsored $40,000 World Racquets Championship May 6 at San Diego's Atlas Health Club.

Current U.S. Open Tennis champion Guillermo Vilas and world squash king Sharif Kahn will be among the 6 participants. Other players will represent badminton and table tennis in the event.

Hogan, a St. Louis resident who has moved to San Diego and is a sophomore at S.D. State U., has a Jimmy Connors-type attitude. He's confident, competitive and vocal, but he backs his frequent on-court abrasiveness with ability that opponents find nearly impossible to overcome. A finalist in the last two national pro championships, Hogan's record on the current pro tour earily makes him the world's leading player, a ranking he figures to enjoy for some time.

He won 8 of the 9 pro events scheduled so far this year. Each victory was worth $4,000 and Hogan figures to top his more than $40,000 in tournament earnings of last year when he won 9 of 11 events. He has reached the finals of every tournament he has entered the past 3 years.

Youngest Winner

"I was the youngest racquetball player ever to win a major tournament and I know I can beat anybody," he says. "I have confidence in myself, in fact, I've yet to meet a person who has as much confidence as I do. It will be interesting to play Vilas in badminton and table tennis."

The World Racquets Championship is a round-robin competition with the participants competing in each sport but their own. Tickets at $7 admitting to the entire competition, are now available at the Atlas Health Club, 901 Hotel Circle South in Mission Valley.

S.B. Track Tries Opener Again Sat.

Anxious drivers in the South Bay Racing Assn. will try again Saturday night to open their 1978 campaign at the quarter-mile oval inside the multi-purpose South Bay Park Speedway 117 facility.

Gates open at 6 p.m. with trials scheduled for 6:30 and the first race set for 8 p.m.

After two rainouts, however, promoter Don Basile is beginning to wonder just when things will start to fall into place. He came closest last week when the rain fell just before the completion of the midget auto time trials. The mighty midgets of the U.S. Racing Club have been rescheduled for April 29.

Racing officials indicate that there should be at least 30 cars on the line for the rescheduled opener Saturday. Last week, 17 street stockers were out to share the program with the midgets.

Defending champion John Cartwright, a 32-year-old mechanic from Lakeside; Bonita's Ken Snelling, Don Hicks, the '77 street stock champ from National City and his brother Tom of Poway will head the super stock ranks.

The street stock division will feature such veterans as Jim Brown, Ed Vestal, Marv Gussow and Bill Weddle against newcomers Del Hoffman, Richard Fries, Bruce Kelly, Cdarles Lundin, John Ackerman and lady driver Nancy Oppedal.

LOS ANGELES — The California Public Utilities Commission has rescinded a previous order to water companies to get rid of fixed water rates within the next 3½ years.

Instead the PUC will consider fixed rates when individual water agencies face the Commission with rate applications.

School Ask Aid In Child Teaching

Public schools, which have increasingly taken over the task of teaching children responsibilities previously transmitted by families, are reaching out for parental support.

A brochure published by the Assn. of California School Administrators (ACSA) addresses the community with simple suggestions for the improvement of students' performances and the cooperation between educators and parents in the educational field.

Ideas include reading to children, selecting educational TV programs for them, and taking them on informative trips. Copies of the brochure can be obtained from the ACSA Publication Department 1575 Old Bayshore Hwy., Burlington, CA 94010.

New Staffer for CSEA

John Cantrall of Santa Ana has joined the field staff of the California School Employees Association (CSEA).

As field representative, Cantrall will represent classified employees in an area including Poway, Santee, Lakeside, Lemon Grove and other parts of San Diego county.

CSEA represents 120,000 classified employees in California—including bus drivers, clerical workers, maintenance and food service employees, instructional aides, custodians and other school support personnel.

Vets Must Change VA Life Insurance

Korean War Veterans must convert their GI insurance policies before their 50th birthdays or forget about ever collecting benefits on them.

Dorothy Starbuck of the Veterans Administration office in San Diego said the life insurance policies cannot be renewed after the veteran's 50th birthday.

The policies can be converted to one of eight permanent plans now in existance with the VA.

About 350,000 policies were issued during the Korean War and the Veteran's Administration estimates about 332,000 veterans still have these policies.

YOU AND YOUR PET

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.

Shedding

One of the more common questions asked of a veterinarian is "why does my dog (or cat) shed so much?"

The answer is that pets and other animals shed hair in response to certain factors in their environment, primarily temperature changes and the amount of light they're exposed to.

When cats and dogs were basically outdoor animals, they shed twice a year.

In the spring, the heavy winter hair dropped out to make way for a lighter summer coat.

In fall, this light coat made way for a coarser, thicker winter coat. The change was completed in three to four weeks.

For pets that live indoors, shedding becomes a year-round activity.

Lack of exercise, indoor heating and the extra hours of artificial daylight combine to produce a steady, sometimes annoying hair loss.

Shedding is a natural process. There is little you can do to control it except to keep your pet well groomed.

Grooming equipment varies according to the type of coat your pet has.

A fine comb is good for short-haired dogs. A comb with widely-spaced teeth is better for long-haired breeds.

You also need a brush: one with short bristles if you have a short or medium-haired dog and longer bristles for a long-haired dog.

Basic grooming work is done with the comb. It helps to remove loose hair, small twigs and other debris, and is useful in unraveling knots and snarls.

When the pet is thoroughly combed, you are ready to use the brush.

Brushing should supplement but not replace combing since brush bristles often do not reach the undercoat on long-haired pets. For a smooth and fluffy coat, brush in the direction you want the hair to lie.

Proper cat grooming is somewhat different. A long-haired cat is groomed primarily with the brush and finished with the comb to fluff the fur.

Short-haired cats need only a short brushing, followed by gentle petting.

The oil from your own skin will smooth the fur and add to the coat's sheen.

Despite your good intentions, your pet may refuse to cooperate with grooming. If possible, start grooming your pet while it is young to avoid irksome obedience problems later.

You can teach an older pet to tolerate grooming by doing only a small section at a time and being careful not to pull the skin. In the beginning you may need a friend to restrain the pet if it persists in wriggling away.

Shedding is routine, but exccessive hair loss can be the symptom of an underlying problem.

Excessive bathing with strong soap dries the skin and the hair and will cause adnormal shedding.

Dogs also lose hair from thyroid gland problems, allergies and high fevers.

Some pregnant females, particulalry long-haired pets, lose hair when they are fed inadequate diets following delivery of their offspring.

Diets that are adequate for a normal adult pet do not always provide adequate nutrition for a nursing mother. She may need more protein and fat until the young are weaned.

If you think you pet is losing too much hair, check with your veterinarian.

Excessive shedding, especially when the skin is also irritated, is not normal. Your pet deserves the benefit of professional medical attention.

Letters To The Editor

Parade Denounced

Dear Sir:

As a spectator at Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade, I noted that all the major awards were won by floats whose themes had absolutely nothing to do with the announced "GOIN' ON 1."

What is the point of having a theme if you're not required to follow through?

It certainly is discouraging to organizations and businesses who must have put a lot of thought and effort into their projects in order to come up with floats that would be associated with the first anniversary of Lemon Grove's cityhood.

Along with many others, I would like to know what the judges based their decisions on.

I also think that future parade committees should clearly establish, for both participants and judges, the qualifications for award eligibility.

Sincerely,
Roberta Johnson,
Spring Valley

The 'Pot' Scene

Dear Editor:

San Diego County Supervisor Jim Bates is deeply concerned over tainted Mexican grass affecting the health of his pot smoking constitutents of San Diego.

He is worried regarding how much of this dirty marijuana is coming in from Mexico, and thinks the county should take steps to investigate same.

County officials have been directed to check on the filthy grass, and results will be discussed on May ninth, of what to do about the problems of San Diego's dirty pot. Which evokes this comment "Thank God for the coming election, and the candidacy of Lee Hubbard Junior."

Disappointed With Election Coverage

Editor:

I was disappointed in your coverage of my comments in the article of April 13, on candidates for the Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees.

When responding to the question about pressing issues, I indicated the need for school boards to become more involved in legislative concerns relative to schools.

I stated that school boards should be proactive rather than reactive (not retroactive as reported).

Selective editing ignored my statements referring to the positive steps our local board has taken in these areas. Having attended the past 38 school board meetings, my interest and support of board activities has been evident.

Unfortunately, the deletion of the significant remarks allowed the impression that I was "attacking" the local board for "sitting on their tails."

This was not an accurate perception of my statements.

Sportscaster Al Couppee Backs Ed Davis

Republican gubernatorial candidate Ed Davis, former Los Angeles police chief, has picked up an articulate and dedicated supporter in Al Couppee, the former radio and TV sportscaster who gave incumbent Larry Kapiloff a tough run in the 1976 race for the 78th Assembly District seat.

Couppee, speaking for Davis to the Loma Portal Republican Women's Club Tuesday, said simply: "Ed Davis is the only Republican candidate for governor with whom I'm entirely comfortable. There's no deceit, no double talk. What you see is what he is, what you hear is what he means. With every one of the other Republican candidates I have misgivings, doubt. With Ed Davis, there's no doubt about his stand on crime and punishment, no doubt about his stand on morality, on abortion, on taxes (he favors Jarvis-Gann, Proposition 13), no doubt about Ed Davis and his appointments and endorsements (he won't endorse liberal democrats for personal gain, and he won't hire ex-convicts in sensitive positions), no doubt about Ed Davis and gun control (he believes in the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution), no doubt about Ed Davis and his attitude toward the public employee bureaucracy. In short, there's no doubt in my mind that Ed Davis gives Californians a choice in a race against Jerry Brown, the leftwinger in Sacramento who now performs as governor. Davis will beat Brown."

Inheritance Tax

SACRAMENTO—An examination to qualify additional candidates for possible future appointments as State Inheritance Tax Referees will be given by the State Personnel Board on May 20 in three areas of the state, State Controller Kenneth Cory announced today.

The new examination is scheduled to replenish the list of qualified candidates which has been reduced through appointments and by expiration of a list from an examination given in March 1973. Also, the terms of more than 40 Inheritance Tax Referees will expire on June 30 and must be filled.

The 3-hour written examination on May 20 will be given in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento. The examination will cover four general subject areas—appraisal of real property, appraisal of tangible and intangible personal property, analytical and reasoning ability, and inheritance tax law and procedures.

The State now has 165 Inheritance Tax Referees who, according to law, are appointed by the State Controller to serve four-year terms. Appointments must be made from among those who have successfully completed the qualifying examination.

There must be at least one referee designated to serve each county; however, temporary appointments are permitted for counties with no qualified applicants, and a referee may be assigned from an adjoining county if there are less than 3 qualified applicants.

Qualification of candidates extends for 5 years from the date of the examination, now including examinations given in February 1975, May 1975, December 1976, July 1977, and November 1977. Those who took any of the earlier examinations may seek requalification or extension of qualification through the new examination.

Copies of the official examination announcement and application forms may be obtained from any Employment Development Department Office, any State Personnel Board office or from the State Controller, P.O. Box 1019, Sacramento 95805.

Completed application forms must be submitted at the examination site on May 20, and must be accompanied by a $25 non-refundable application fee fixed by the State Personnel Board.

Republic of Vermont

Vermont was an independent republic before it became a state.

ALEX TISCARENO, a Mount Miguel senior, placed fourth in Bank of America's 31st annual Achievement Awards. Tiscareno, cited for fine arts, won a cash award of $50 in the zone semi-finals of the contest.

Rate Increase Due for SD Gas and Electric

LOS ANGELES — Another rate increase has been granted to San Diego Gas and Electric.

This time the rate increase will collect for the local gas company a total of $21.1 million in what they call "emergency rate relief and energy cost adjustments."

The California Public Utilities Commission, the governmental agency which approved the rate increase, granted the rate increase so that the gas company owners could enjoy a 13 percent return on common equity.

Traffic Deaths Could Set New All-Time High

There have been 1090 Californians die in traffic accidents in the first three months of this year.

The California Highway Patrol's Commissioner Glen Craig said the new statistics compare with 986 deaths in 1977 and 905 in 1976.

The 10.55 percent increase this year is attributed to an eight and a half percent rise in vehicle mileage and drivers who don't observe the 55 mph limit. As speeds increase, contends the CHP, so do the number of traffic deaths.

The worst year on record for California drivers was 1969 when some 5080 motorists died on the highways.

Commissioner Craig predicted if the first three months of 1978 show the trend, this year may set a new record in the number of deaths on the highways.

Owners Sought for Unclaimed Property

State Controller Kenneth Cory has begun a search to find 35,407 owners of $12 million worth of unclaimed property.

The Unclaimed Property law provides for unclaimed property such as savings accounts left dormant more than seven years to be turned over to the state controller and the rightful owners located.

Riles' Study Claims Proof for AB-65

State School Superintendent Wilson Riles has found evidence he believes proves the worth of the state's new school finance law, AB-65.

In a test conducted in 22 northern California junior high schools, Riles said he found an average of 317 percent in mathematics achievement and 187 percent in reading achievement.

Riles said of the new programs implemented there were:

— students taught in small groups or on an individual basis,

— students with different abilities were grouped together,

— and school programs rated least cost-effective were eliminated.

Unintentional Painting Tops List of Wild Insurance Claims

The man who jumped from bed to spray insecticide to ride a mosquito problem and found out the next morning it wasn't insecticide but red enamel paint topped the list of wild insurance claims divulged by the Aetna Insurance Company.

Some of the others the Hartford, Connecticut based company received last year were:

— a car insurance claim from an Alabama driver who was advised by a police officer to back up. The driver did "just what the policeman said" and made the trip at 50 miles per hour, smashing into two parked cars.

— one stolen car claim from a woman who loaned her car to her fiance and never saw it again.

— a workman's comp claim from a chef who developed gout from sampling his own cheese sauces.

— a claim from a New Jersey woman who was hit on the head by a toilet seat. The seat dropped from a variety store display.

— a claim from a gambling enthusiast who put his winnings into a pants pocket, got nervous, lit a cigarette and subsequently his pants on fire. Both cash and pants went up in smoke.

—and finally there was a mortician who sought paymentment for a strained back. Business was so good he injured his back loading hearses.

Bates Opposes Prop. 13

Fourth District Supervisor Jim Bates has denounced Proposition 13 (Jarvis-Gann) and thrown support behind Proposition 8.

Bates said Proposition 13, although it gives relief to homeowners, it fails to provide tax relief for senior citizens and renters.

George Shearing In Fri. Concert

The George Shearing Duo will be appearing at the East County Performing Arts Center on Friday at 8 p.m.

Tickets from the cancelled May 16 concert will be honored at this performance.

The London-born Shearing is best known for his jazz performances with his quintet. Recently however, he created a sensation at New York's exclusive Carlyle Hotel by performing only with string bass accompaniment.

He has been blind since birth. With an ear of extraordinary sensitivity, the 59-year-old Shearing has composed and arranged numerous pieces including such greats as "Lullaby of Birdland." He has accumulated awards from every trade and jazz poll, including seven citations from Down Beat Magazine.

Good Backs Prop 8 Hits Tax Spenders

Neil Good, County Assessor candidate, pledged that he would lead efforts to place local government spending efforts if Proposition 13 fails or is overruled by the courts. He also said that he was taking a leave-of-absence from S.D. City Councilman Leon William's office beginning Monday of this week.

Speaking before the Terrace Mobile Home Owners in Spring Valley and to a group in Rancho Bernardo recently, Good said, "The only way to reduce taxes significantly is to reduce government spending."

Good, who supports Proposition 8, said that the Jarvis-Gann initiative does not take into account local desires.

"Proposition 13," he said, "merely limits one revenue source. It does not cut taxes. It will raise taxes."

Good, who served four years as a top Senate aide in Sacramento, said, "Proposition 13 would take local control away from cities and school boards and put it into the hands of the Legislature."

"Nobody knows better what we need to live with than those of us at the local level," Good said.

"By enacting our own revenue and spending limits we can forcefully, effectively, and responsibly enact those sections of Jarvis-Gann we all want—better services at a lower cost."

He told the two groups that, as assessor, he would advocate tax reforms and be responsive to taxpayers' desires.

"The incumbent has lost all touch with the people," Good charged. "He has told county officials that if Proposition 13 passes, he will have to hire more people. That's nonsense."

SD Exposition Talent Search Begins in May

A search for Talent competition is scheduled as a special event of this summer's 89th annual Southern California Exposition at Del Mar, June 21 through July 4.

Special Events Director Harry Hofmann said cash prizes will be awarded the winners Sunday, July 2, following four preliminary events on June 22, 24, 27 and 30. Top prize will be $100.

The contest is open to San Diego County performers who are interested in the arts of music, singing, dancing and drama or comedy.

All acts will be auditioned in May and those selected will compete in the preliminary events. The winners from there will go on to the finals July 2.

Hofmann said judges from show business fields will screen the contestants and also will be responsible for determing the winners of the preliminary events.

Entertainers will each be given a maximum of 10 minutes to perform.

He said several other new contests will be announced for Expo 78. "Our objective is to have more people participating at the Expo and this will be one way of getting them to take part," said Hofmann.

Study Claims Workers Receive Big Paychecks

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce has found out skilled maintenance workers and unskilled plant workers in San Diego have bigger paychecks than their counterparts in the rest of the nation.

The findings were based on information supplied by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Social Security Upgrades 4 Offices in S.D. County

The Social Security Administration is upgrading five of its branch offices — 4 in San Diego and one in Imperial counties, in a reshuffling of responsibilities which Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin says should result in faster service for most of the 240,000 Social Security recipients in the San Diego area.

Van Deerlin said the reorganization took effect Monday. The branch offices at Chula Vista, El Cajon, Escondido, Oceanside and El Centro will be elevated to district office status, putting them on an administrative par with the downtown San Diego district office of the SSA.

The five new districts have been part of a single larger district that encompasses both counties and was run from the San Diego office.

Van Deerlin said it was decided to break up the single San Diego-Imperial district "because it got too big for one office to manage."

The 6 regional offices will be under the supervision of a San Diego-based area director, Ms. Ollie Washington, who is also in charge of Social Security operations in Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

Van Deerlin said there will be only limited personnel changes, although the persons running the new district offices are being promoted to the rank of acting district manager.

Social Security stations in Linda Vista, Pacific Beach and Southeast San Diego will continue as branches of the San Diego office. Another branch, in La Mesa, will be subordinate to the new El Cajon district office.

Social Security employs about 380 persons in San Diego and Imperial counties.

WIC Funds Re-allocated

California is one of 30 states to share an additional $12 million in funds to operate the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC).

Under a re-allocation plan, funds which state agencies have not spent are redistributed to states with high expenditure level. California's reallocation of $533,080 will be used for eligible applicants under the WIC program.

Zoning Requests Filed on Four Building Projects

The County of San Diego has received two extended initial studies and three draft environmental impact reports for projects in Spring Valley.

The Vista Del Oro EIR is a focused EIR project request to subdivide 4.71 acres into 16 parcels and change the zone classification from R-2-A to R-1 to construct single family homes. The project site is located on Helix street in Spring Valley.

Grandview Estates, Unit Three EIR is a focused EIR for a project request to subdivide 8.6 acres into nine lots for construction of single family homes on the southwest slope of Mount Helix in the Lt Mesa area.

Comments on the EIRs must be submitted in writing to the County's Environmental Analysis Division by April 26. The Environmental Review Board meeting for these two projects is tentatively set for May 4.

Also the Carl Rosen Lot Split EIS is a project request for a tentative parcel map to divide 116.24 acres into four lots ranging from 20 to 40 acres on Bunny Drive in Jamul.

The Fredrick Tellam EIS is a project request for a minor subdivision of 37 acres into four lots, ranging from eight to 13 acres, west of Honey Road in Jamul.

Comments on the EIS projects must be submitted in writing to the County's Envoronmental Analysis Division by Tuesday.

The Environmental Review Board meeting for these three projects is tentatively set for April 13.

Draft reports for the EIS and EIR projects are available for review only at the County's Environmental Analysis Division, 9150 Chesapeake dr. in San Diego and at the El Cajon, Encinitas, Fallbrook, Lemon Grove and Vista branches of the County Library.

In addition to the above locations, the Vista Del Oro and Grandview Estates Unit Three drafts can be reviewed at the Spring Valley and Casa De Oro Libraries.

Property Tax Filing Extended for Seniors

The filing period for the senior citizens property tax postponement program has been extended from January 31 to April 17. In addition, changes have been made to the original law that increase the number of tax postponement applicants and are retroactive.

Application forms and instructions are available in Franchse Tax Board district offices or can be obtained by calling (800) 852-5711 (information) and (800) 852-7700 (forms request). In areas where callers must dial 1 before the area code, callers must dial 1-(800) and the appropriate number.

Homeowners who filed claims disallowed under the program's original limitations will be automatically reconsidered for eligibility and should not file new applications.

Good Says Assessor Keeps Invisibility

Assessor candidate Neil Good, addressing the La Jolla Democratic Club, attacked the incumbent for failing to list himself in the statement of qualifications pamphlet being mailed to voters with their sample ballots.

"Since the incumbent assumed office in 1965," Good charged, "he has remained invisible to the general public, whose property he assesses for big annual tax bills."

"When I filed my candidacy papers," Good continued, "I challenged my opponent, the incumbent, to a public debate. In addition to media coverage of that challenge, I sent the man a telegram. The incumbent has failed to answer my challenge, despite the fact that I offered to let him set all the ground rules."

Good revealed, "Now the incumbent has demonstrated the contempt he holds for the people. This man — who was appointed to the position 12 years ago and who has been there ever since — has chosen the supreme snub of the voters. He has not even submitted a statement of qualifications to accompany the sample ballots mailed to all registered voters."

While the 200-word statements must be paid for in advance, the pamphlet offers many people their only significant opportunity to compare all the candidates. The booklet is printed in both English and Spanish.

"Since he has been in office, the incumbent has received nearly half a million dollars in salary and other personal support," Good stated. "Refusal to invest $1,300 to inform the people who've provided him with an excellent livelihood is intolerable arrogance."

Good continued, "Over the years, the incumbent has consistently increased the size of both his staff and budget. He has computerized assessment procedures to the point that human judgment and fairness have virtually been eliminated. That alone has caused countless San Diego County property owners to be paying unjustly high taxes."

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last week Captain Douglas discussed accidents in Lemon Grove.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save you a citation or it could even save your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:

I ride a horse almost daily on county roads and I wanted to know the law regarding this.

Answer:

Ridden animals are considered as vehicular traffic and are subject to all the provisions that an automobile is subject to.

An equestrian must ride as close as practical to the right edge of the roadway.

Practically speaking, a left turn from the roadway is hazardous for an equestrian. Proceeding straight through the intersection, then crossing the other roadway at right angles, is a safer measure.

Dr. Seuss Feted By Boys' Clubs

The annual Boys' Clubs of San Diego, Inc. Golden Man and Boy Award Dinner will be held tonight at the Town and Country Convention Center.

Recipient of the Golden Man and Boy Award is Theodor (Dr. Seuss) Geisel. The guest celebrity will be comedian Morey Amsterdam and Master of Ceremonies is Norman B. Foster.

Mills' Bill to Aid Mobile Home Dwellers

Senator James R. Mills, D-San Diego, has introduced two bills aimed at clarifying all legislation affecting mobile homes.

One bill (SB 2119) will simply reorganize existing laws under easy-to-understand sections. It will make no substantive changes in the law.

The other measure (SB 2120) will clarify many code sections where legal intent was understood but never put into words.

"For example, there's one section that says a rental agreement must be reached by the tenant and the mobile home park management," said Mills.

"The law does not say, however, that such an agreement must be signed. That may have been understood, but if questions had ever arisen over such contracts and the law never said they had to be signed, strong legal challenges could have been made as to the validity of that agreement," said Mills.

"The intent of SB 2120 to clear up these ambiguities and silent portions of existing law so management and tenants will fully understand their rights," he said.

Mills pointed out that one of the best legislative minds was used to clean up the existing legislation.

"Former legislative counsel George Murphy assisted the Western Mobilehome Assn. in tidying up these laws, so all parties can be assured that the doctrine of fairness is scrupulously applied," said Mills.

First Disaster Claims In Works at IFGP Unit

LOS ANGELES — State Department of Benefit Payments disaster relief workers have begun processing the first of several thousand federal and state funded disaster relief Individual and Family Grant Program applications.

The Individual and Family Grant Program offers eligible applicants non-repayable cash grants of up to a maximum of $5,000 to repair or replace real and personal property lost or damaged due directly to a series of storms which struck the state beginning February 5.

Residents in 13 counties proclaimed disaster areas by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr., are eligible to file IFGP applications.

"The Program is designed to help families and individuals need serious needs and necessary expenses which other federal, state or private assistance or insurance programs cannot meet," said Karl Kolb, State IFGP Coordinator.

Eligible needs and expenses:

— Real Property: IFGP grants are available for owner-occupied dwellings and may be used to repair storm-caused damage; provide access to it; clean or sanitize it; or remove debris from inside it. This includes mobile homes. Funds also may be used to provide protection from additional damage or destruction.

— Personal Property: IFGP grants are available to replace, repair or sanitize essential items of clothing, household items, furnishings, linens, or appliances. Tools and special protective clothing or equipment that is essential to a family's livelihood may also be claimed. The cost of moving or storing personal property to prevent additional damage is also payable under IFGP.

— Transportation: IFGP assistance is available to cover the cost of public transportation if the need for transportation is a direct result of the storms. Grants may also be given to repair, replace or provide private transportation if the need was created due to the storms.

— Funeral Expenses: Grants may be given for funeral expenses for disaster-caused death based on minimum for internment or cremation.

FGP grants may also be given to provide temporary housing for up to 30 days for persons forced to leave their dwellings by the disaster.

Business losses and agribusiness losses are not eligible under IFGP, according to the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration.

Other expenses not eligible for IFGP benefits include improvements or additions to real property; landscaping except where necessary to prevent additional damage; real or personal property used exclusively for recreational purposes; debts prior to the declaration of disaster and any necessary or serious expenses provided by another program or that were available through another program but were refused by the applicant.

Redlining Hotline Set Up by Commission

The San Diego Human Relations Commission has begun a new telephone complaint center for those who believe they have been ripped off by redlining.

Redlining is home loan discrimination, biased lending practices based on subjective rather than objective criteria.

The HRC's complaint center is part of a project called "redline" and is in cooperation with the San Diego Coalition Against Redlining.

The complaint center phone number is 299-2840.
